Unlocking University of Baguio Experience

University of Baguio

Since its founding on August 8, 1948 as the Baguio Technical and Commercial Institute (popularly known as Baguio Tech), the University of Baguio has grown and dedicated itself to be a delivering institution of quality, relevant, and inclusive programs that are at par with the world's demands and current challenges.

Located in Baguio City, dubbed as the Summer Capital of the Philippines, the university is nestled in the crossroads of Northern Philippines. Our students, alumni, faculty, and staff have and are continually excelling and gaining recognition in various pursuits in local and international landscapes. For excellence and dedication to various endeavors, from academics to athletics, research and innovation to outreach, student development, and academic mobility, UNIVERSITY OF BAGUIO is the place to be.

The university's reach is both local and international while embracing a philosophy of learning that is robustly rooted to the theoretical tradition, innovation, application, and prosperity of these disciplines.

The University of Baguio raises empowered professionals in a continually evolving global community.

Nestled in the Cordillera ranges of Northern Luzon, Baguio City is known for various monikers, each encapsulating and vibrantly symbolizing how the city is known to its many guests, locals, and our University of Baguio students from different parts of the country and the world who slowly embraced the multicultural facets and local color and practices of Baguio City and our neighboring municipalities and provinces.

Inducted to the UNESCO Creative Cities Network for Crafts and Folk Art, Baguio City is every part exciting, enticing, and entertaining. The Panagbenga Flower Festival is a platform for various artisans and indigenous peoples groups to convene and showcase their creativity and culture. Food, dances, songs, and local trade come together in a week or joyful vibe that attracts locals and visitors alike to this historical city.

Our students at the University of Baguio hail from nearby towns and provinces and different regions of the world, most notably from South Korea, Japan, Thailand, China, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Sudan, among others. As a melting pot in Northern Luzon, the University of Baguio is also the crossroads for cultures where students from various walks of life and context come together to study, excel and build their careers and future.

NAVIGATING YOUR ONLINE STUDENT LIFE

LEARNING MANAGEMENT SYSTEM OR LMS

28K

SHARE SAVE

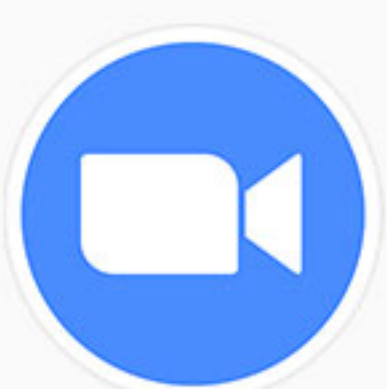

as it is popularly known, is a term that is gaining more prominence with the rise of online courses.

SUSCRIBE

Through a LMS, instructors can offer their courses and online classes. By accessing the platform, students have access to the material and other resources that support learning, such as chats to discuss the content. Distance Learning tool, the main goal of a Learning Management System is make teaching and learning online possible.

At the University of Baguio, what LMS are commonly used? Here they are, and these are also downloadable to your devices, on iOS or Android!

OTHER APPS

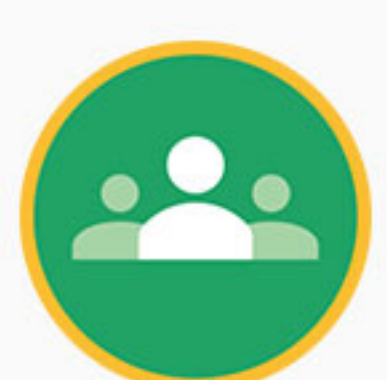

ZOOM

Zoom enables seamless online connectivity for students and instructors through recurring meetings with a single link and passcode for the entire semester.

GOOGLE MEET

Google Meet, included by default in the Google Chrome apps panel for G Suite users, is now freely accessible to all, offering customizable meeting options and the ability to use virtual backgrounds.

GOOGLE CLASSROOM

Classroom, free for schools, non-profits, and personal Google account holders, offers simple enrollment through codes, making it an accessible tool for various projects.

00:00

KHAN ACADEMY

The Khan Academy, founded by Salman Khan, has revolutionized learning by offering personalized instruction to millions of learners worldwide. Through its adaptive learning platform, it caters to diverse learning styles, making education more engaging and effective for everyone.

00:00

POCKET

Pocket is a versatile tool for saving articles and videos to explore later, even when offline, providing convenience and flexibility in managing your content consumption. Whether you're on the go or simply short on time, Pocket ensures you never miss out on valuable resources you wish to revisit.

00:00

DROPBOX

Dropbox simplifies file management by allowing users to upload, transfer, and share files effortlessly in the cloud, ensuring seamless collaboration and accessibility across devices. Additionally, its backup and sync features provide peace of mind, safeguarding important documents, photos, videos, and other files with ease.

00:00

MESSENGER

More commonly used for friendly chats, Facebook Messenger is effortless for teachers to send important announcements and updates about the class. It is real-time and more accessible, so it is easy to use, and alerts the teachers if the announcements is "seen" or "read".

00:00

GOOGLE DRIVE

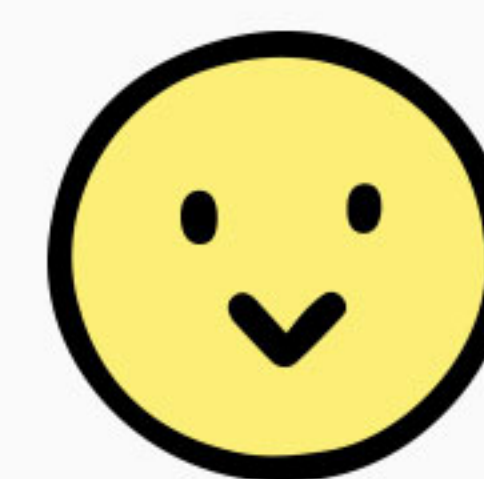

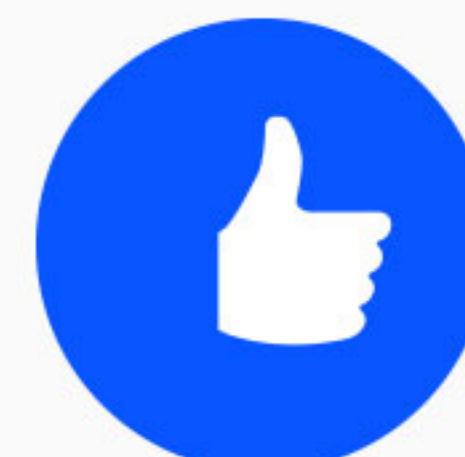

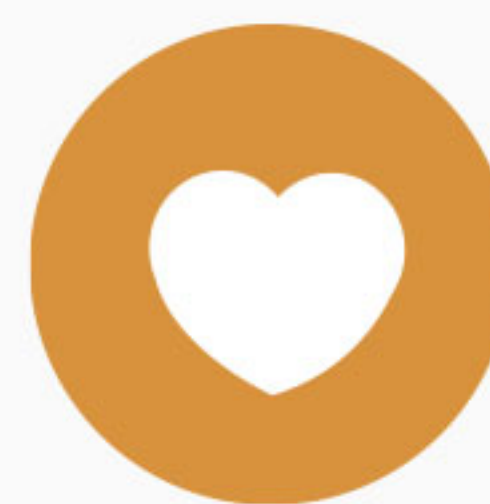

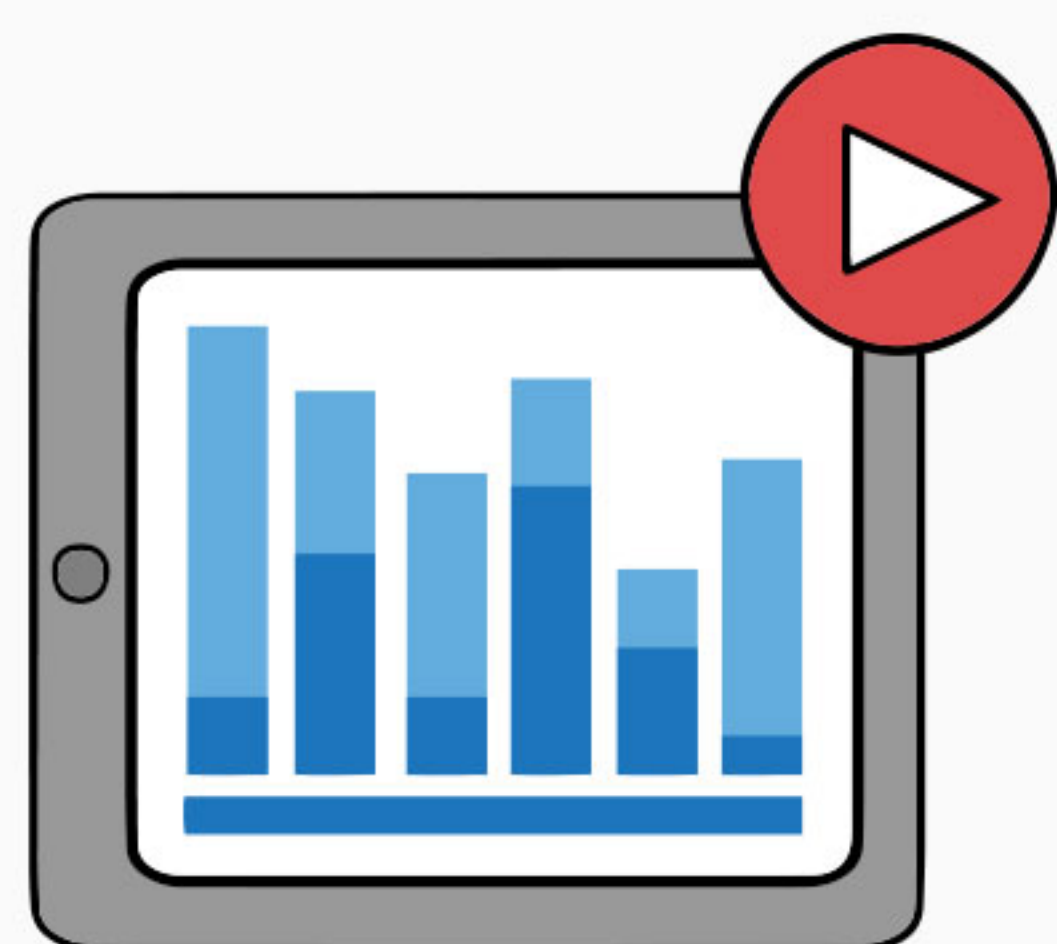

Save and store all of your documents online so that your work will be safe if your laptop crashes. You can also work offline and collaborate on a document with your classmates. You may also upload large and multiple files here, and share the link with your classmates or instructors.

00:00

YOUTUBE

Since visuals are more effective for our minds as learners, YouTube as used in education is more potent than any other resource. Several important groups or organizations have YouTube accounts and their videos help us learn and supplement our modules. Instructor favorites include TED Talks and vlogs.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT CENTER (ISC)

The International Student Center, located just beneath the Office of Student Affairs' Main Office, is a dedicated space for international students where they can gather, forge friendships, collaborate, and learn with one another. It was established to promote and support campus-based internationalization, assist international students in a new living environment, provide them with campus resources that cater to their academic needs, and guide them to understanding Filipino culture.

The ISC has a dedicated computer space, lounge area, storage and filing cabinets, free Wi-Fi access, and prayer rooms.

Valuing the importance of diversity and religious inclusivity, the ISC offers two (2) prayer rooms, one for the males and one for the females, for non-Catholic students.

At the University of Baguio, we foster harmonious relationships with members of our international community, and ensure a fun and safe learning environment.

10 WAYS TO PROTECT YOUR MENTAL HEALTH ONLINE AND OFF

Did you know that 1 in 5 students say that the COVID-19 has significantly worsened their mental health? In the college level, 80% of college students shared that they feel their mental health negatively impacted by the pandemic. We must be vigilant together to get better.

The University of Baguio's campaign for mental health has been going on for many years now. Launched in 2016 by the Media Affairs and Publications department, the "It Gets Better" campaign has been picked up by the Office of Student Affairs, the Center for Counselling and Student Development, the different schools, and the Mister and Miss University of Baguio candidates as a year-round, continuous project to campaign for mental health and help provide an avenue for accepting depression and building healthy ways to understand and deal with it in the university.

Set a timer or use an app to limit your screen exposure. Synchronous classes are set on window schedule. Use it smartly.

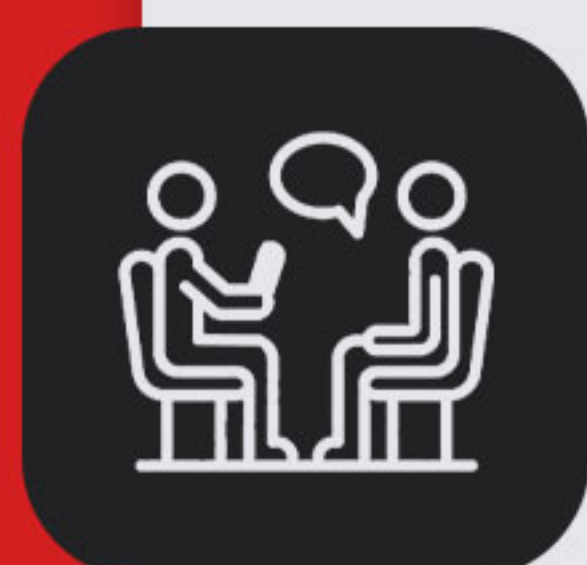

Choose affirmative communities. Limit following larger-than-life content and social media influencers that make you feel less. Remember: the reality behind the images may be more complicated.

Spend more quality time with your family or pets at home. Embark on a personal project or hobby to occupy you through your downtimes. Keep busy.

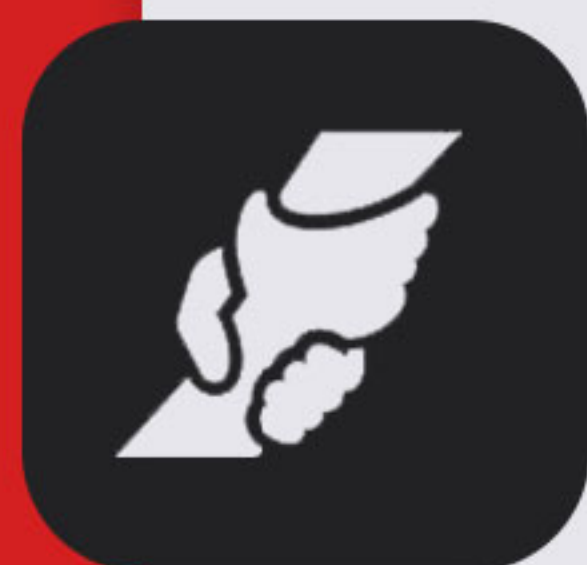

Engage in healthy discussions with friends online. Find a good support system and stick to it. It may mean short dialogues with friends or classmates online that may yield stronger relationships.

There is no magic cure to make anxiety go away. If you must, seek professional help or a counsellor's assistance.

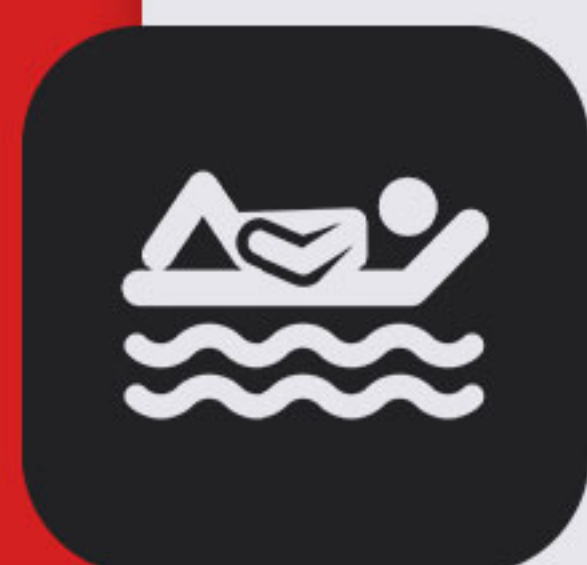

Maintain some of the routines you had before the pandemic. Take that early shower to start your day. Eat lunch on a specific hour. Take a nap at 3pm. Close that laptop at 5pm.

Join mental health groups on social media. Some support groups are free and very friendly. You may also join webinars and online sessions where support tips are shared.

Choose an open space for communication, not a rant avenue. It is easy to opt to express anger anytime, but you do not want to regret what bad thing you said in a few seconds for the rest of your life. Maintain a journal, open up to a trusted friend, or write a diary entry.

Reward yourself, too. Cliché as it is, take a break and celebrate small victories. Watch a serial episode to close a day well done or enjoy a sandwich for finishing a report. Rewards don't have to be fancy. If you do what relaxes you, you're already on vacation mode, even for a few hours.

Remember that mental illness, depression, and anxiety are not perpetual. They may come to us in different times or intervals. It is important that we open ourselves to finding healthy ways to deal with these when we experience them, and know that these do not define all our days.

H > Building

The University of Baguio's buildings for college students are A, B, C, D, F, and H. H refers to the Centennial Building.

2 > Floor Number

03 > Room Number

In some instances, classrooms in the basement are determined by a second letter. A is the first basement, B is the second basement, and so on. Therefore. AD01 means your is Room 01 in the fourth basement of A Building.

TBA means To Be Announcened.

The University of Baguio has three libraries: the Main Library at A building, the Centennial Library, and the Extension Library at the F building.

There are two audiovisual rooms in the University of Baguio: the Main AVR below the Cardinal's Gym at the D building, and the Centennial AVR right at the entrance of the Centennial building.
